Fifth-, sixth- and seventh-grade students from western Maine schools met last week at the Bethel Inn Conference Center to learn more about energy resources. They spent the day working together to better understand renewable and non-renewable energy sources and ways to conserve and reduce dependence on them. Students debated the pros and cons of solar, coal, wind, water, oil and gas as energy sources. They built solar-powered fans, learned to read electrical meters and performed electrical conductivity tests with apple batteries. The youngsters also learned ways to conserve energy resources in their school and at home. Here (from left), Carl Zurhorst and Amy Jane Mahar of the Andover Elementary School and Rosanne Jewell of Crescent Park test their solar panel fans.

Effort underway to revive Powder Ridge

Original developer 'went away' after launching what would have been the area's largest subdivision

By ALISON ALOISIO

A plan to breathe new life into the Powder Ridge development and offer 47 house lots for sale was presented to the Newry Planning Board last week.

Developers Bruce Lilly and Dr. Mike Liberti have purchased the property from C.B. Cummings Co. of Norway. They are represented by consultants Main-Land Development Consultants, Inc.

The first phase of Powder Ridge was developed in the 1980s, but further phases stalled when the developer, Glover Development Corp., "went away," in the words of town officials.

The new developers want to proceed with three more phases, which would involve a total of a mile to a mile and a half of new road construction. The existing Douglass

Road is also scheduled for repaving next summer.

There are currently about a dozen houses in the development.

The new house lots would range in size from just over an acre to about 3.5 acres. Each home would be limited to five bedrooms.

Construction would be governed by an architectural review committee, Liberti said. The association's guidelines will also regulate and limit the cutting of trees on the lots.

In addition to the house lots, the partners are considering bringing back a revision of the original development's plan for 29, three-bedroom condominium units.

The board will further consider the application at its Nov. 6 meeting. In the meantime, letters will be sent to abutters notifying them of the plan.

G'wood, Norway boards to meet on Patch Mt. Road ATV dispute

By REBECCA ZICARELLI

Since at least 1995, the Patch Mountain Road in Greenwood and Norway has been used as an ATV trail. On Oct. 31, the boards of selectmen for Greenwood and Norway will meet with interested residents at the Norway town office to discuss the road's future as an ATV trail. The boards will meet at 6:30 p.m., with public comment beginning at 7 p.m.

In 1995, the Oxford Hills ATV Trailblazers began developing a trail network on the Patch Mountain Road. Over the years, they have received state grants, raised other money, negotiated with private landowners, and put in their own time and labor to develop over 30 miles of ATV trails.

According to club president, Lynn Rolfe, such trails are the only viable alternative to the problem of ATVs on public ways. "Clubs are all about learning how to respect landowners, how to ride safely, how to be a good rider on other people's land."

But Duane Hue, whose home is on a remote and un-maintained section of Patch Mountain Road, sees things differently. "What's going wrong is that they're not obeying the rules," Hue said. Hue maintains that the club's trail, which is promoted on their Web site, is illegal because it traverses public roads in violation of state law.

Two sections of the Patch Mountain Road in Greenwood are still maintained by the town, though most of the road has been discontinued and is legal for the trail. All of the road in Norway is discontinued from winter maintenance, but is still a town way.

The law allows ATVs to travel along the extreme right of a public way for a distance up to 300 yards to get to a trail. Beyond that distance travel along public ways is illegal.

To get riders off maintained sections of the road in Greenwood,

Rebels upset Dirigo

By ALISON ALOISIO

Two weeks ago Telstar High School's field hockey team appeared to be out of the playoff picture. But on Tuesday, the #6-ranked Rebels upset #3 Dirigo 2-1 in a Class C quarterfinal matchup.

The team will now face #2 Winthrop Saturday in the semifinals, to be played in Winthrop. Earlier this month, Telstar's young squad was at the bottom of its division in the heat point ratings, and ranked #11. But

Selectmen nix fundraising 'tollbooth' for baseball team's trip to Florida

By MICHAEL DANIELS

The road to Disney World for the Telstar High School baseball team will not run through a tollbooth on the Bethel Parkway.

The baseball players and their supporters are currently at work on a year-long campaign to raise the estimated $18,000 to $20,000 it will take to allow the team to participate in an April 2003 baseball tournament in Orlando, Fla.

In a letter to the Bethel selectmen, supporters Brenda Wight and Marjorie Osgood said about the tournament: "It is a huge opportunity for the baseball team members to play against many different teams from the United States. It is an opportunity for students to make new friends, see new places, and for some, the first time on an airplane. It is also a chance for a group of students to work together toward a common goal in the planning and financial aspect of the trip."

To deal with that "financial aspect" team members have taken part in several bottle drives, car washes and raffles," Wight and Osgood said, but they also hoped to employ another traditional fundraising technique — a "tollbooth" on a local road, at which motorists would be solicited for donations.

The selectmen were asked to sign off on the team setting up a tollbooth on the Parkway, for up to six hours on some upcoming Saturday

PARTIES REPRESENT THE RICH

To the Editor:

In response to a letter by Nat Reade, it would be easy to get in a debate about Republican policy versus Democrat policy, but it is more important to address his obvious dislike of rich people.

Instead of listening to the propaganda on CBS, ABC, and NBC, let's think for ourselves for a moment.

George Bush Sr., George Bush Jr., and the vice president are all rich people. Terry McAuliffe, head of the Democratic National Committee, turned a $100,000 investment in Global Crossing into $18 million in just two years. Hillary Clinton got several million dollars as an advance on a book she hasn't written, as did Bill Clinton. All six of these people are rich and are from both parties. Our senators get about $165,000 per year plus a limo and expense account, and when they retire they get their full salary as pension. I call that rich. Do you really think either party is going to do anything that will hurt the rich? Ted Kennedy talks about raising the minimum wage to help the little guy and how the rich friends of the Republicans are out of touch. Imagine a Kennedy talking about other people being rich, as if he isn't. The reality of life is anything that helps the middle class will help the rich more, and anything that hurts the middle class will hurt the rich less or not at all.

If a person thinks either party will back a law that benefits the middle class without benefiting the rich, that person is very naïve.

We have an excellent form of government, but far too many people holding elected positions are thinking of themselves first and this country second, and it doesn't matter which party they are in. Perhaps we should give Libertarians a chance, since neither of our two major parties truly represent middle-class Americans.

REMEMBERING BASIL SEGUIN

To the Editor:

The Bethel Historical Society has lost a valued member with the death last week of Basil Seguin, long the proprietor of Moll Ockett Books in Bryant Pond. I first met Basil probably in the mid-1970s shortly after I returned to Bethel from my time in Ottawa. One of the first things to be noticed about Basil was his quaint way of speaking and unique expressions.

It was always fun to visit his shop and catch up on some of his experiences. Since learning to read, I have loved books, so inevitably I always came home with at least one that I just had to have. Through the years, I have bought dozens of books and learned quite a bit about Basil's life experiences in the process.

One of my most useful purchases was a set of Encyclopedia Britannica from 1951 that could be shelved in a bookcase I discovered in the barn that was designed specifically for this set. I don't know what happened to the original books, but I certainly have found the set Basil sold me very helpful despite their age. I was also able to acquire through Basil quite a few annual editions of the Britannica extending way up into the 1980s. How useful they have been in several of my research projects.

I recall one time last year when I was looking for information on an astronomer who visited the Gehring Clinic at the end of Broad Street early in the 20th century. Searching the Internet brought little of use, but when I remembered to check my trusty Britannica there was a "mother lode" of information. Now that Basil is gone, those Britannicas will have special meaning.

Basil was a great believer in the supernatural. I was always entertained by his tales of his late wife, Starr, moving things around the shop and providing him with indications of what he should be doing next.

He also was fond of telling stories about his days as an accountant. The lessons learned about human nature and the varieties of truth were well worth remembering.

In matters of religion, Basil was decidedly in the Unitarian-Universalist camp. This was a view I shared, and we had many discussions about our various beliefs.

His stories of the rise and fall of Bliss College could form the basis of an intriguing novel. Perhaps if I live long enough to retire, I might tempt fate and see what I could do with all the raw material Basil provided me.

Basil was a life member of the Bethel Historical Society and a generous donor of artifacts, who was frequently engaged by donors for appraisals of gifts. In the latter capacity we saw him often. His last major appraisal was done in the Edwards Room of the society's Robinson House. How he liked working in that room and reported that it had lots of spirits roaming about, but they were all friendly ones.

One time I casually mentioned to Basil that I would be visiting the Margaret Chase Smith Library in Skowhegan. He remembered he had a book that once belonged to Senator Smith's late husband, Clyde. He gave it to me to pass on to the library. When I arrived and tried to give the book to the library, I was urged by the staff to visit the senator and deliver it personally. By this time, after my many visits there for conferences and other meetings, and despite her visual impairment from old age, Mrs. Smith knew me well. Tears welled in her eyes when I announced I had one of Clyde's books for the library. "Oh," she said, "we do not have many of those."

A few days later both Basil and I received personal letters from the senator thanking us for making this gift possible. Basil was particularly pleased to have such a prompt and gracious note of gratitude from this legendary political figure he so greatly admired.

I last saw Basil a few weeks ago and was alarmed by his haggard appearance. He was blaming his condition on combinations of medications since he was sleeping an abnormally large amount of time. He told me he was about to learn what his problem was soon through the suggestion of a nurse friend who had referred him to an appropriate medical specialist. I will probably never know what he learned, but it was apparently not soon enough or else his condition had advanced beyond the reach of medicine.

In any case, he is now gone and those of us who enjoyed his shop and all his colorful stories will greatly miss him. I don't know if he will make his presence known now that he has "passed beyond the veil," but I am ready to learn of any reports of his following in Starr's wake.

GREENWOOD CATTLE POUND—Today, wandering livestock are unusual enough to merit a photo in The Citizen. But in bygone days, wandering livestock were a common enough problem to merit a solution. Stray livestock were rounded up and taken to cattle pounds where they were held until their owners came to fetch them home. Voters in Greenwood approved building a cattle pound in 1835. The Greenwood Cattle Pound was built at the foot of Pond Hill, just north of Greenwood City. According to the "Town of Greenwood 1816 — 1960," published by the Greenwood Historical Society in 1994, "The pound was to be 40 feet square inside. The walls were to be five feet high with a wooden capriase on the top one foot thick. The walls were to be five feet thick at the bottom and two and a half feet thick at the top, the stones laid in a workman like manner." Thomas Furlong, believed to be the second settler of Greenwood, was pound keeper for several years during the mid 1800's. Since 1977, the Town of Greenwood has owned the pound (see letter below) preserving this rich bit of history for future generations. According to Blaine Mills, president of the Greenwood Historical Society, cattle pounds were once common. "Every town had one," Mills said. "This is the only one in Greenwood that I know of. There's also one on Bird Hill, but that's in Bethel."

REMEMBERING MARIETTA SMITH PENLEY

To the Editor:

Sir, to you and through you to your readers, I would like to make comment and observation about the late Marietta Smith Penley (Mrs. Albert W. Penley, Sr.). I first became acquainted with Mrs. Penley and was a visitor a few times at her home in the late 1970s.

As a young man, native to Greenwood and very interested in landmarks and preservation, I had been admonished heartily by Eva Mills (Mrs. Norman O. Mills) "To preserve the landmarks," a Biblical lesson in nature, though I was unaware of her quoting powers at that time.

Mrs. Mills said that she and Norman and Albert and Marietta Penley owned the land upon which was the Greenwood Cattle Pound (1842) on Pond Hill near Greenwood City. She felt that it should be preserved and that she was certain that by a personal call Mr. and Mrs. Penley would gladly join them in deeding the land to the Town of Greenwood for preservation. It should be noted that Eva Mills "took on the power company" some years prior. She enlightened the engineering staff of CMP on the merits of preservation for they had planned to bulldoze the historic site enlarging the power line ROW.

I hesitantly approached the selectmen of the town inquiring their views. Fully knowing that they would never be interested, I was shocked and pleasantly surprised when they told me if I could get a deed made and it was signed by all parties without cost to the town. ... We, "The Town," would accept the Cattle Pound.

Through the wise counsel of my Bacon, Cole, Dunham and Seames kinsmen in the town I proceeded upon my course and mission. Eva and Norman signed, pleased to make such a gesture for the good of the Town of Greenwood. I called upon Mr. and Mrs. Penley and was received as though I had been part of their close circle of friends for many years. Both asked sensible questions and wanted assurance that the land would be cared for well. After the visit, I had a deed made and returned to gather the signatures from both families. How good I felt leaving Mrs. Penley's house that autumn day when she inquired about my grandparents and family. She thanked me at the door of her modest home for the opportunity of meeting me and the chance to give this important gift to the citizens of Greenwood. I would see she and Mr. Penley after that a few times and in a limited way, as I was away working for the government. The memory of her kind words and gesture of love for a community of settlers, their descendants and their children yet unborn is a part of the legacy that Marietta Smith Penley gave to her family and to this community.

Marietta — Thank you again for your gesture of kindness to me and this community.

Well done good and faithful servant, your labor has been long and worthwhile. Enter now in the Kingdom of the Lord. Blessed be your name, sacred your memory.

MHS VOLUNTEERS SOUGHT

To the Editor:

Do you think the Farmer's Almanac is correct? Will it be a snowy, cold, long winter? Oh well, we have been through these winters before. Not a problem, right? Not till you think of cabin fever, short days, same four walls.

Well, I think I have a solution for some of you. How about getting involved in Maine Handicapped Skiing, located right here in Bethel or at Sugarloaf. We have volunteer opportunities for office assistants, snowmobile drivers, snowboarders and downhill or cross-country skiers to work with individuals with physical disabilities. Meet new friends, spend your day in the fresh air, improve your skills and get a new attitude toward winter.

Training starts in early November, so call us today at 824-2440, or check out our Web site: www.skimhs.org for more information.

near the dam, and they would need to be involved, he said.

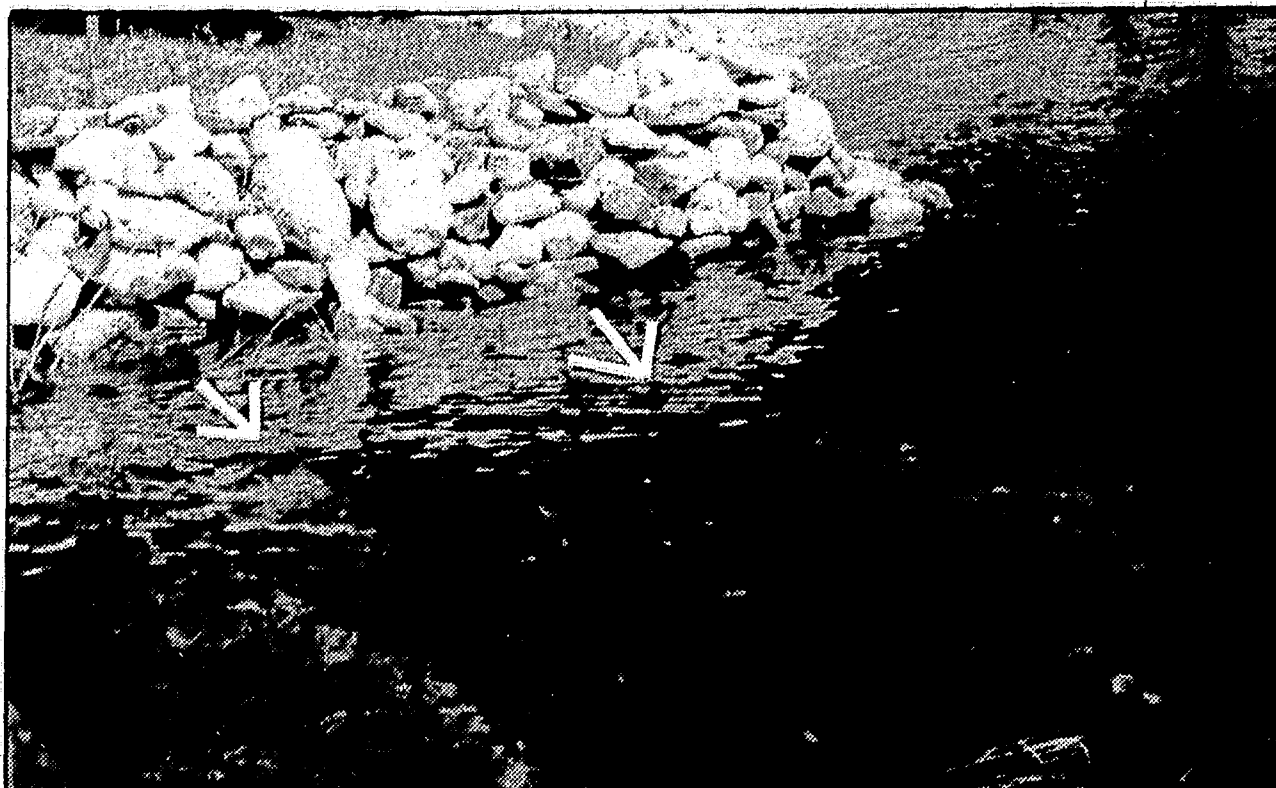

Last week, Town Manager Vern Maxfield contacted the Department of Environmental Protection to ask what options the association might have.

He learned the Concord dam is not on the state's list of regulated dams. Dana Murch of DEP then suggested two options, according to Maxfield: 1) Hold a meeting among the property owners where the dam is located and the parties concerned about the water level, and attempt to reach an agreement on restoring the dam; or 2) petition the state for a water-level hearing.

The second choice could lead to state regulation, with the state directing the dam be repaired and/or for certain water levels to be maintained.

Pelletier said with those suggestions in mind, he now plans to meet with other association officials to discuss the next step.

SAD44 coaches, Title I teachers OK'd

BETHEL—The SAD44 School Board last week approved the following personnel appointments: Jessica DeLaRosa as full-time Title I teacher at Woodstock Elementary School; Elizabeth Clarke as half-time Title I teacher at Crescent Park School; Mary Fenstermacher as half-time Title I teacher at Andover Elementary School; Greg Luetze as Telstar High School alpine ski coach; Nate Buckman as THS assistant girls basketball coach; David Leclerc as THS track coach; Gary Wight as THS assistant track coach; Brian Mills as Telstar Middle School head girls basketball coach; Elizabeth Broadway as TMS assistant girls basketball coach; Steve Keane as TMS assistant boys basketball coach; and Mark Kenney as TMS softball coach.

Sander purchase approved

WOODSTOCK—The Board of Selectmen and the single resident to attend a special Town Meeting last week voted to spend up to $5,000 to purchase a sander for the Highway Department. The sander will be used on the town's one-ton truck.

Change in Region 9 vote proposed

MEXICO—The Region 9 board is proposing a change in the cooperative agreement among member districts that would reduce the voting power of SAD44 representatives. The proposal was made because SAD44 does not pay a proportionate amount to operate the Region 9 adult education program. SAD44 operates its own adult education program. The district accounts for about 6 percent of the students in Region 9 adult education, and pays 1.6 percent of the costs. SAD44 representative Jeff Harren said at a Region 9 board meeting last week the amount his district pays should not affect the weight of his vote. He argued the Region 9 board also oversees the secondary vocational program, for which SAD44 pays an amount based both on its high school enrollment and student participation in Region 9. The board decided to table the issue until its Nov. 19 meeting, in order to have an opportunity to get more input from each district's School Board and superintendent.

Liquor license denied

WEST PARIS—Selectmen last week denied an application for a liquor license for the Mighty Stallion Restaurant and Lounge, on the grounds that the applicant had a prior conviction for domestic assault. The vote followed a public hearing on the issue. It was the second hearing regarding the license. An earlier application approved by selectmen was denied by the Maine State Liquor Commission because it was deemed incomplete. The commission determined that applicant Phil Marin of Dixfield had indicated on the form that he had not had any convictions other than minor traffic violations. At last week's hearing, attended by about two dozen people, he was asked why he did not admit to the 1998 conviction. Marin said he had pled no contest and did not think that was considered a conviction. People at the hearing expressed concerns about customers drinking at the business and then driving on busy Route 26, where the business is located. Marin said he will now appeal the decision to the Liquor Commission.

Roadside cleanup a success

PARIS—Oxford County's first ever Operation Clean Up, which utilized inmate labor to clean up roadsides, went extremely well, according to Sheriff Skip Herrick. The effort served 17 towns over a period of 30 days. The county had accumulated 239 miles of litter and rubbish throughout the towns. Operation Clean Up, similar to the Oxford County Jail Public Works Program, allows the participating inmates one day off their sentence for every two days of work, which reduces the cost of housing that inmate, saving taxpayers dollars. There was no cost to the towns. The program will be offered again in 2003.

Man arrested after standoff

NORWAY—Police arrested James Littlehale Sr., 54, of Norway Tuesday after a 90-minute standoff at his Main Street apartment. Littlehale was charged with terrorizing and criminal threatening after allegedly threatening to shoot people inside his apartment. A woman called police at 1:55 a.m. to report Littlehale was screaming threats. She also reported an unidentified woman could be heard talking in the apartment. Police eventually broke into the apartment and arrested him. No weapons were found.

Get a "Tree of Caring" bulb

PARIS—The Western Maine Veteran's Home Advisory Committee is again offering a chance to honor friends and loved ones by lighting a bulb on the "Tree of Caring" at the South Paris Veteran's Home. Bulbs in memory of a deceased loved one, who need not be a veteran, or to honor one who is still with us are $5 each. Funds received are used exclusively for special activities and needs of the residents at the home. For more information or to purchase a bulb, contact Florence McLaughlin, 8 Jackson's Crossing Road, S. Paris, 04281-6408. Checks should be made payable to Maine Veteran's Advisory Committee. The tree lighting program will take place at the home at 477 High Street on Nov. 29 at 7 p.m.

Hospital to give away gun locks

NORWAY—Stephens Memorial Hospital, in conjunction with the Maine Emergency Nurses Association and Master Lock Co., will give away free gun locks on Thursday, Oct. 31 in the lobby of the hospital. A Norway police officer will exhibit and demonstrate how the locks work on a variety of firearms. The locks will be available while supplies last. "With hunting season upon us, it is imperative that we think first of the safety of our families," said Darlene Glover, SMH emergency services nurse manager. "We urge all gun owners to make a conscious choice to keep yourself and your family and friends safe from preventable firearm accidents."

Buy snowmobile from franchise

AUGUSTA—Mainers who are considering buying a new snowmobile this season should be careful where they make their purchase. The attorney general's office said a new Maine law makes it a crime for anyone who does not have a franchise with the manufacturer to sell a new snowmobile or all-terrain vehicle. A new snowmobile or ATV is one that has not previously been registered or for which sales taxes have not been paid. State officials said common violators appear to be merchants in other businesses who buy new snowmobiles and ATVs at dealerships in Canada and then resell them to Maine consumers without paying taxes, registration fees or franchise fees. That cheats consumers out of warranty rights and shifts the tax burden to other citizens. Several complaints are being investigated, the attorney general's office said. Violators can face up to six months in jail and a $1,000 fine.

Rural homelessness increasing

AUGUSTA—Homelessness is not just a problem in Maine's largest cities, according to directors of shelters that are filling up in smaller communities across the state. Shelters from Oxford to Knox counties say they have been at capacity. Half of Maine's homelessness is in the Portland area, but the problem is spreading to smaller towns and cities as housing becomes increasingly expensive, according to Michael Finnegan, director of the Maine State Housing Authority. Some 55 percent of Mainers lack the income needed — $14.78 an hour, or about $30,000 a year — to rent a two-bedroom unit, he said. In some cases, people who are working "are finding themselves so squeezed out of the rental housing market it's at the point where they have to stay in a shelter," Finnegan said. Oxford County's Galilee House, a shelter in Norway for women and children, has turned away 24 women since early September. In western Maine the problem is compounded by a series of factory closings, which has put many people out of work.

From the Bethel Police Log:

Rare bird eludes animal officers

At 4:08 p.m. on Oct. 20 the animal control officer met with the Warden Service to assist in the apprehension of an albino peacock found in a barn on the North Road. Attempts were unsuccessful and the bird eventually flew into the woods.

Tuesday, Oct. 15

At 3 p.m. police received a report of a dump truck traveling east on Route 2 and turning north on Route 26 in Newry, dumping gravel in the roadway (unsecured load). The officer notified dispatch the vehicle was well out of his jurisdiction.

At 4 p.m. police observed a subject on Main Street who had a history of failing to appear in court. The officer requested a warrants check. He was advised of three confirmed warrants of failure to pay a fine. Karen P. Wheeler, 33, of Bethel was arrested.

Thursday, Oct. 17

At 3:35 p.m. police received a call from dispatch that a vehicle towing a horse trailer was going through Bethel with the rear door open. The officer did not make contact, but found later that the Rumford Police Department had contacted the driver.

Saturday, Oct. 18

At 4:22 p.m. police received a report that a subject had reportedly assaulted a woman while traveling on Route 26, and fled the scene prior to police arrival. Paul Perrault, 49, of Bethel was located in Bryant Pond and arrested with assistance from a state trooper on a charge of domestic violence.

Monday, Oct. 21

At 2:30 p.m. police received a report of two oxen loose on Route 5 near Mill Hill. The officer sat by the road until someone was contacted to take care of the animals.

This report highlights points of interest from the Bethel Police Department log. It lists all cases of adults being arrested or issued a criminal summons, but does not include all reports of other police activity. To reach the Bethel Police Department, call 911 in emergency situations, 824-3437 in non-emergencies.

SHIRLEY POWELL

To the Editor:

I am writing this letter in support of Shirley Powell for State Representative of District 65. Having known Shirley for many years, I am strongly committed to helping her win this election. Her strong background in healthcare is of importance to me.

Shirley has a deep understanding of the people's needs in the area of healthcare, both from an organizational level and from a personal level. She was executive director of the Bethel Area Health Center for many years and indeed was instrumental in its beginnings. It was there that I worked, as a board member, with her. Her organizational skills and her ability to research an issue and present all sides of it to the board, coherently and without bias, enabled the board to arrive at consensus on many difficult decisions. This is not an easy task with a diverse group.

As many may know, Shirley and her family also dealt with the healthcare system for many years during extremely difficult times. From this, she has the inside understanding of the needs and problems individuals face with healthcare.

Shirley has the ability, the enthusiasm and the knowledge to do an excellent job for all of us as our Representative of this district. Please support her by voting for her on Nov. 5.

DAVID CONARY

To the Editor:

Voters in District 70, Rumford, Woodstock and Milton Plantation, have the choice of "business as usual" or electing a fresh new face to Augusta politics. Business as usual will mean higher taxes and more government red tape and spending.

If I were a District 70 voter, I'd vote for David A. Conary, who lives in Woodstock. Dave is a clean election candidate who is committed to working for everyone in the district and who is not beholden to any special interest group. His financial background and small-business experience will enable him to contribute real solutions to the current and future state budget crises that will benefit all Maine citizens, especially the taxpayers. Having served in four Maine Legislatures, I know the problems the state faces and the inability of the present majority to solve them.

I sincerely hope everyone in District 70 gets a chance to meet and talk with Dave Conary as he campaigns door to door and that they will vote for him in November. They won't be disappointed.

SHIRLEY POWELL

To the Editor:

This letter is written in support of Shirley Powell, who is running as the Democratic candidate to the Maine State Legislature from our District 65.

I have known Shirley personally and professionally as a home health nurse for over 25 years. In that time I have come to respect and enjoy her sense of humor, knowledge, integrity and experience in issues that concern our community.

As executive director of the Bethel Family Health Center for nearly 10 years; as Community Relations/Volunteer Services coordinator for Androscoggin Home Care and Hospice; and, presently, as a consultant to healthcare organizations throughout Maine and New England, she knows firsthand the difficulties in providing healthcare for all.

She has had experience as a parent and as a substitute teacher in the local school system. She continues as a lifelong learner, taking courses toward a college degree. She presents a realistic point of view on educational issues.

Shirley and her husband, Bruce, own and operate a family campground, which gives her an understanding of running a small business in western Maine.

Please join me in voting for Shirley Powell on Nov. 5.

BRYANT AND BAKER

To the Editor:

Bruce Bryant is a candidate for the Maine Senate in District 24 and Marilyn "Lynn" Baker is seeking election to the Maine House of Representatives for District 68 (Norway, Greenwood, West Paris and Waterford).

Bruce has been a fine representative in the Maine Legislature for the people in Dixfield, Mexico and Peru for several terms and is seeking to move up to the Senate. He is energetic and is not afraid to look at new ideas that might benefit our region. He has specialized in issues of importance to working people, serving on the Business and Economic Development Committee, and in issues important to our outdoor heritage as a member of the Inland Fisheries and Wildlife Committee. He has been endorsed by the Maine Council of Senior Citizens and was an enthusiastic supporter of the Maine Rx program. Bruce and Marlene grew up in this area and are raising their three daughters here. He knows how important access to education, K-12, adult and post-secondary, is to our region. I hope your readers will support Bruce Bryant and put his energy and his experience to work for Western Maine in the state Senate.

Marilyn "Lynn" Baker would be an effective and committed representative for the residents of our area. She is a great listener and is an individual who is not afraid to ask tough questions and seek answers in a very determined way. She has raised a family, put in many years as a small businessperson in real estate and as an innkeeper, and is currently working on completing her college degree. What better example for young people and adults in this region than a legislator who was not afraid to go back to school after many years away from the classroom. Lynn is seeking this office because she cares deeply about her town, our region and our state. She is organized, independent, and will give District 68 residents her undivided attention as their representative in the Maine House of Representatives.

Please join me in voting for Bruce Bryant and Marilyn "Lynn" Baker on Nov. 5.

ROB CAMERON

To the Editor:

First, I would like to thank the voters of western Maine for the support they have extended to me over the eight years that I have served in the Maine Senate.

Secondly, I would like voters to consider the candidacy of Rob Cameron to succeed me. Rob concluded eight years in the Maine House of Representatives in 2000. He was the first Republican to be elected from Rumford since the 1940s. This by itself will tell you a lot about his qualifications. He has a very good record on job creation and retention. Rob has run a small business and knows, firsthand, how difficult it is to do business in Maine. His rating by the Maine Economic Research Institute (MERI), a nonpartisan group that rates legislators on votes that are of interest to businesses, was 80, a strong pro-business record. On the other hand, his opponent had a 15.5 in the same session. This information is on the Web and the address is www.me-ri.org. Please take a look at the ratings of these two candidates.

In my judgment there is no better person than Rob Cameron to succeed me in the Maine Senate, and I strongly urge you to vote for him on Nov. 5.

Norm Ferguson
State Sen., Hanover

ROB CAMERON

To the Editor:

It seems like some people in Augusta don't know or just don't care that Maine is the highest taxed state in the nation. Just in the past two years, Bruce Bryant voted to increase the taxes on all prepared foods from 5 percent to 8 percent, increase the cigarette taxes by 25 percent, increase the gas tax by linking it to inflation, and tax all services not covered under the sales tax.

I can't take it anymore. I want someone in Augusta to represent me and my pocketbook. I am voting for Rob Cameron on Nov. 5. I know that Rob is concerned about Maine's hardworking men and women who barely have enough money to pay the bills each month. I am confident that he will do what is right for Maine's working families.

On Nov. 5, vote for Rob Cameron.

MIKE MICHAUD

To the Editor:

My mailbox was full of totally outrageous nonsense from the National and Maine Republican Party regarding Second District Congressional Candidate Mike Michaud this morning. I certainly hope that those receiving this drivel will recognize it for what it is — a deceitful attempt by Mike's opponent to create some sort of panic amongst us oldsters (Yes, at least Kevin got that right — the Newells do qualify for AARP!). Such negative tactics are what has turned off so many voters to the political process.

As the Sun-Journal has stated so emphatically in its endorsement — Mike Michaud has a 22-year record of advocating for Maine's seniors, and as legislator in good times and not-so-good times, especially as a member of Senate leadership, and has tremendous experience in making the tough decisions required. That is not experience that his opponent can claim — thus his, and the Republican's, descent into politics at its worst. Please show Mr. Raye that such tactics are not what voters in Maine expect.

Vote for Mike Michaud on Nov. 5.

JIM THERIAULT

To the Editor:

When going to the polls to vote on Nov. 5, ask what kind of person you want for sheriff, a politician or a diligent and dedicated professional law enforcement officer with years of experience who will be a working sheriff.

Jim Theriault qualifies as the latter and will serve the public with perseverance and loyalty. He has worked as a police officer, a deputy sheriff for two years during my tenure as sheriff and presently is chief of police of Mexico.

I know him to have a spotless reputation. Please show your support and vote James Theriault for sheriff.

MIKE MICHAUD

To the Editor:

Why does the Sun-Journal call the ad for Kevin Raye, that is coming out of Washington, a "cheap shot"?

For a very good reason. The votes that they say Mike Michaud made were made in an emergency situation. They were proposed by then Republican Governor "Jock" McKernan. The state surplus, accumulated under previous Democratic Governor Brennan, was depleted when McKernan gave it all back to the taxpayers. (I got $45.) The state budget, which has to balance, unlike our national budget, was in deep trouble.

Mike Michaud is sincere and has served all of the people of Maine extremely well. I would be proud to have him represent us in Washington.

Unfortunately, George W. Bush made the same grave error and has depleted our National Treasury. Where is the fiscal responsibility?

Nancy Willard

JOHN BALDACCI

To the Editor:

As John Baldacci's service as Maine's Representative for the Second District nears conclusion, we feel it prudent to express our sincere appreciation to him for his loyal and unwavering support of issues confronting our nation's veterans and their families.

Baldacci's values consistently correlate the needs of our veterans, and he has been a true champion for their cause. On numerous occasions, we have been privileged to experience his solidarity on issues on their behalf. We are proud to be counted among his constituency.

As a display of non-partisan unity and national urgency, he hastened to support the efforts of President Bush, protecting the American people from the threat of Saddam Hussein and terrorism by providing the tools necessary to engage our allies and, if that fails, to take action to disarm his arsenal of chemical and biological weapons.

During his eight years as representative, he has worked tirelessly with the rest of Maine's Congressional Delegation to ensure that Togus Veterans Administration remains a full-service hospital. Earlier this spring, our delegation successfully argued for a clinic extension of services to Fort Kent to provide care for veterans already in the VA system at a minimal cost. Linkages such as this provide greater access to healthcare for our veterans, and it is hoped that the future will see the establishment of more Community Based Outreach Clinics in additional areas of Maine.

Baldacci supported legislation introduced in the House to ensure that the VA Healthcare account be funded with automatic increases each year (HR 5250). This bill would make federal funding of veterans' healthcare a mandatory budget item instead of a discretionary one — guaranteeing adequate funding for healthcare.

And most recently, Baldacci co-sponsored legislation HR 303 supporting the ability of disabled military retirees to collect retirement and VA disability pay concurrently. Passage of this matter is truly a matter of fairness. John stands fast to the principle that too many promises to our veterans have not been fulfilled. He has promised his full support behind the final version of the House, that of the Senate or a compromise of the two; and pledges to urge his colleagues to proceed with an immediate override should the president veto this action. We strongly encourage all members of the Maine Congressional Delegation to join with Baldacci in supporting this long overdue legislation. Should our elected representatives do less for those who have given so much? We believe not.

As veterans' advocates and registered voters, the Greenwell family urges everyone to review the record of all those seeking public office with respect to veterans' issues and cast their vote accordingly on Nov. 5.

Tollbooth

or Sunday, Town Manager Scott Cole said.

The idea, however, was not a hit with the selectmen.

"I hate it," said Reggie Brown. "I can't imagine the state would let them do that," said Jack Cross, noting that the Parkway was a state road.

"It's unanimous," said Don Bennett (Dutch Dresser and Al Barth did not attend Monday's meeting).

Bennett told of his annoyance while being held up at tollbooths elsewhere in the state, where he and at least some other drivers had no local interest in supporting the group that set up the tollbooth.

"People want to be able to go about their business," he said.

The selectmen were all supportive of the idea of the team going to the tournament, but Bennett said: "I would urge them to put on their thinking caps and come up with something other than that."

Fundraising 'tollbooths,' however laudable the cause, are now against state law.

He suggested team members might go door to door to raise money.

Osgood said Tuesday that the team has so far raised approximately $5,000, or one-quarter of the amount the trip is anticipated to cost. (See sidebar, page 1.)

A vanishing, and illegal, custom

Fundraising tollbooths are seen far less often now than they were in the past.

"You used to see them all the time, but now for some reason they're backing off," said Brown. Route 26 in Bryant Pond and Cross Street in Bethel (before most of its traffic was rerouted to the much faster Parkway) were common sites for tollbooths.

In Woodstock, Town Manager Vern Maxfield said he personally didn't care for the Route 26 tollbooths, and in any case interest in them just seems to have waned.

And part of reason motorists are seeing fewer tollbooths is that since 1993 they have been illegal.

The letter writers (like most other people) did not realize this, nor did the selectmen or Cole, but following Monday's meeting, Cole did some research and learned of Maine law Title 29-A M.R.S., which states: "A person commits a traffic infraction if that person signals a moving vehicle, stops a vehicle or accosts an occupant of a vehicle stopped on a public way to solicit a contribution or subscription or sell merchandise or a ticket of admission to an entertainment or public gathering."

According to the Maine Townsman (a publication of the Maine Municipal Association), the law was aimed more at big-city panhandlers and "squeegeemen" than at local fundraisers.

But the logic in both cases is similar, the Townsman argues: "The public highways are simply no place for fundraisers whose aim is to distract drivers from their most important task — safe driving."

ATVs

Rolfe said his club negotiated with landowners, cut new trails parallel to the road, and put up signs pointing to the new trails. He accused Hue of removing the signs.

Hue's concerns have created uncertainty about the club's use of the road in Norway, as well. According to Rolfe, until this summer, the club was unaware that the Norway section was still an active public way, because it has not been maintained for years.

"We're willing to help maintain it," Rolfe said, "to work to help keep it open for ATV use."

But Hue said that the ATVs on the road have led to a lot of vandalism and damage. Camps along the road have been broken into. There are many places where the road is washing into streams. And there are problems with ATV riders not respecting other vehicles, as well. "They feel they don't have to yield the right of way to traffic," Hue said.

Rolfe pointed out that the ATV riders who were causing trouble were not club members. "It only takes one guy to screw up and give a black eye to everybody," he said. The club is trying to attract members, mostly through leaving literature about the club and club rides at area town halls, which would increase ATV education and awareness. He complained that the literature left in the Greenwood Town Office keeps disappearing.

Carol Whitman, town manager for Greenwood, and David Holt, town manager for Norway, each said the Patch Mountain Road has a long history of recreation use by residents, and they would like to preserve that tradition.

Whitman said she didn't expect any sort of decision-making to happen at Thursday's meeting. "It will be a discussion, time to learn any more facts and coordinate all the facts," she said. Her goal is to keep the road open enough for vehicles to get through. (Now, the road is impassable without a four-wheel drive with a lot of ground clearance.)

Holt hopes the meeting will achieve two things. "First, that it will build some consensus. Everybody needs to listen, and we'll fight about this for years. Secondly, it makes sense for the boards to develop a consistent policy for the road all the way through."

For the Patch Mountain Road to continue as an ATV trail, the Norway Board of Selectmen will need to approve such use or it will have to go before the town's voters. "I wouldn't be surprised to see the board approve such use with some restrictions," Holt said.

LOCAL ATV TRAIL ADVERTISED ON THE INTERNET — The Oxford Hills ATV Trailblazers' Web site features this map of the Patch Mountain Road. The map shows new trails the club built to the top of Uncle Tom's Mountain, the Greenwood ice caves, and a small section built to keep the travel distance on the town-maintained section of road near Greenwood City in compliance with state law.

The Way I See It

by Sharon Bouchard

Sharon Bouchard's column is published by special arrangement with the Advertising Department of this newspaper.

It has occurred to me that it is quite appropriate that Election Day comes on the heels of Halloween. I think there are a lot of similarities between the two.

On Halloween, the kids get a little giddy with anticipation of what they are going to get for goodies from their door-to-door canvassing. On Election Day the politicians that are running for office also get a little giddy in anticipation of how many votes their door-to-door canvassing efforts will bring them.

On Halloween, you have a bunch of kids running around with their hands out pretending to be someone or something they are not. On Election Day you have a bunch of politicians running around with their hands out pretending to be someone or something they are not. The message is the same in both cases; Trick or Treat!

For the kids this is a one-day fun thing that allows them to assume another identity and go to people's homes and get a treat. For the politicians it is a way of life.

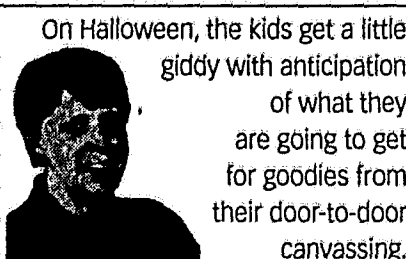

The kids go to a party at a haunted house and bob for apples. The politicians go to either the state or federal capitol and bob for pork.

The kids choose their costumes with the hopes of being scary, but they are usually pretty cute. The politicians try to be cute, but they are usually pretty scary. They all attempt to mask who they really are.

The kids know that they are just playing, "let's pretend to be a ghoul." The politicians don't.

The kids will debate with each other over who are the scariest, the most ghoulish and the most horrible. So will the politicians. The kids are proud when their friends agree that they are the most horrible. The politicians are proud when the voters think their opponents are the most horrible.

Sometimes the kids will pull pranks on Halloween like wrapping your shrubs in toilet paper. The politicians will pull pranks all year (they call it passing bills) making us wish we could toilet paper their shrubs.

The kids will tell each other spooky stories about voodoo and magic that will give them nightmares. The politicians will tell us stories about voodoo economics that will give us nightmares.

The kids will fill their bellies with all kinds of crap giving them a stomachache. The politicians will fill our minds with all kinds of crap giving us a headache and a stomachache.

Communities organize Halloween parties so all the little "trick or treaters" will be safe and secure in one place. Aristotle felt that politicians should be housed in barracks during their political careers so society would be safe and secure. Interesting concept, don't you think?

Have I made my point yet? I'll admit I have stretched things just a little, but that is a liberty writers take every now and then.

To quote one of our past politicians, now here's the deal...not all politicians are hobgoblins. In fact many of them have very good intentions and I won't even bother to remind you what road is paved with good intentions.

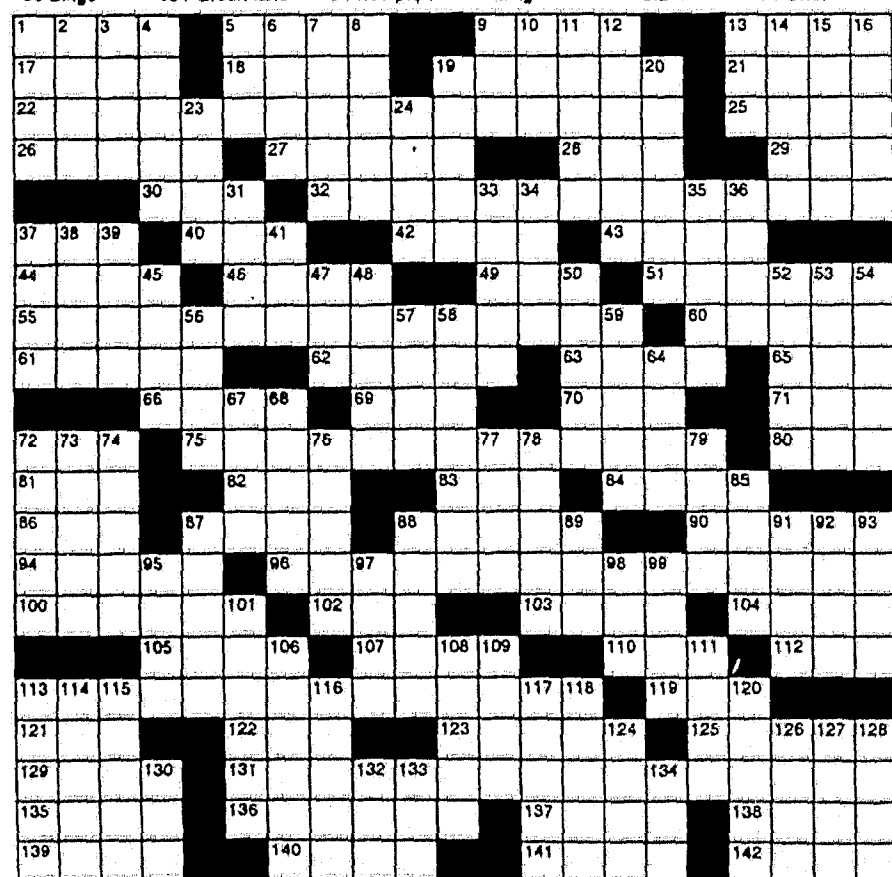

We the people have to have someone to represent our interests whatever they may be and we have the option of selecting whom we will give that thankless opportunity to. One has to wonder why anyone would want to do it, but then I always wondered why a little kid will want to dress up as a vampire on Halloween when the very thought of such a creature terrifies them.

For some politicians, I'm sure the feeling of power and self-importance is the lure to public service. But for many others it's a sincere desire to change the things that are wrong and to preserve the ones that are right, and we can only hope they have the wisdom to know the difference.

So, on Halloween, turn on your porch light to the little ghost and goblins and on Election Day go to the polls and cast your vote for the candidates of your choice. And remember, when the little ones come knocking on your door, "treat" them well, because the way I see it, they just may grow up to be the politicians in a position to "trick" you in the years to come.

Sorry I had no column last week. The bug got the best of me and I lost a larger part of the week. Now I am just looking at possible giardia or something similar. If it's not one thing it's another.

A week ago David saw his eldest son married. The wedding was in Auburn on a bright, sunny day. The bride looked beautiful, David Jr., played guitar and all the younguns played a role. Much to my surprise, I knew the bride's parents from politics. In fact, I had campaigned with her father in '96. As I always say, Maine's a small town. We took many pictures and I'm waiting to see them.

Last week, on one of my last trips through the notch on my way home from the campground, I saw a black bear crossing Route 26. Was in a bit of a hurry. The campground is now officially closed for the season. We stayed just long enough to enjoy the foliage and the beautiful fall weather. The peepers were amazing, too. They would show up and look around and just barge onto people's campsites and make themselves at home. We'd have to go up to them and mention the day-use fee. That usually got them.

It's getting to be that time of year — time to find a roommate for the winter. If anyone knows someone that's looking, have them give a holler. Of course they have to be a non-smoker, but that's okay. There's plenty of them around.

Thursday, is Bethel Area Poets Society. Hard to believe it's that time of the month, but it is. As usual, all are welcome. Last month we had a really good time. Hope this month will be the same. If Faith and Phil get lucky and sell the inn, we'll be looking for a new home, too. Suggestions for that will be okay, too. In any case, the reading is Thursday, the 24th from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Black Bear B&B.

Julie told me there have been moose in her yard. I believe there were three there the other day. I, of course, miss them. They steer clear of the dog and I can't really see over to her house from mine. Can't see the turkeys, either. But the turkeys stick around when one drives by so I get to see them. They also are about in the height of the day.

Tomorrow (last Tuesday by the time you read this) is our last computer class. We're learning to be computer repair people and having fun doing it. We've already repaired several, including Lynn's CD drive. That was easy. Now if I could remember everything when using software I'd be happy.

That's all for this week. Have a good week and watch out for the snow on the horizon. Do not forget the Ski Sale. They always have great bargains there.

zen's request that they contact the Department of Transportation to request that the 40 MPH sign on Route 2 be moved further up the road. The next Selectboard meeting will follow the Town Meeting.

Visiting Joan and Gordon Howe this week has been their son, Andy, and his family from Alabama.

Judy Ray has concluded her visit to the area and has flown home to Austin, Texas.

Work on the dam at Howard Pond has begun. Cement forms are in place. Workers are attempting to strengthen the stone and earth dam as well as stop leaks. Last week, the Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife sent the fish truck to Howard Pond. The fish were dumped into the pond.

Some have asked about the white markers in the water at Howard Pond. We are told they are location markers for minnow traps.

A moose died last Monday along Route 2 at the intersection with Brown Road, apparently after a collision with a motor vehicle.

Greetings and salutations (just thought I'd be a little fancy this week). Hope everybody missed my words of wisdom last week; I'm sorry but I didn't get back from the wedding in North Carolina in time to write my column. The wedding was great in spite of an unexpected and unwanted guest named tropical storm Kyle who just wouldn't go away. What else can I say except the ride was a long one, right through "sniper country," the bride, my niece Brooke Stinson, was beautiful, and the food was terrific. My mother, Marjorie Stinson, continued her traveling and is now in Michigan with my sister, Jean. She, my mother, turned 81 on Sunday. My sister, Jeannie, isn't that far behind — she's gonna kill me for that one.

Speaking of celebrations, Fran and Paul Neville recently celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary. They were treated to a meal at The Balsams. Attending were Kerry Neville from Bell, Fla.; Barry and Robin Neville from Bethel; Bruce Neville from Gilbert, Ariz.; Lana, Gillian and Jasmine Fyrberg from Andover; and Jennifer Fyrberg and Jason Hebert from Windham.

Daniel Vaughn and Darren Jodrey, both students at AES, are on the undefeated (7-0) Steelers Area Youth Football team. Playoffs are this weekend at Hosmer Field. Congratulations, guys, we are very

They blame it on the weather. It was dry and hot much of the summer. Well into the month

Half of pregnancies are unexpected. (But that's not the real surprise.)

The real surprise is that there's something women can do to reduce the risk of certain serious birth defects. Simply take a multivitamin with folic acid every day as part of a healthy diet, whether or not you plan on a visit from the stork.

Another surprise: some studies show folic acid also may help protect women from cervical and colon cancer. For more information, contact the March of Dimes at 1-888-MODIMES or www.modimes.org Surgery isn't what it used to be.

THE CAMPAIGN FOR EXCEPTIONAL CARE RESPONDS TO THE GROWING NEEDS OF OUR COMMUNITY.

These days surgery is more often performed on an outpatient basis. At one time patients routinely spent several days in the hospital after surgery. Now, new advances have led to shorter stays and quicker recoveries.

Stephens Memorial Hospital is meeting this trend by increasing and enhancing its facilities and outpatient equipment. A new suite will be devoted exclusively to endoscopies and minor procedures. This will improve patient privacy and convenience, and increase the capacity for surgery and outpatient procedures.

Change can be a very healthy thing.

Which also happens to be Halloween. little red rodents have been noticeable by their absence. They must have used up all the "edibles" in the woods and are back for their winter handout. The chipmunks are still around and very adept at scaling a metal pole to dine at the peanut butter feeder.

A "one day visitor" shall be the "Bird of the Week." Last week a Rufous-sided Towhee spent time shoving leaves around under the birdfeeder. We have a towhee visit every year. The male has a black head and upper parts with bright rufous patches on the flanks. The female is similar but is warm brown where the male is black. They have a distinctive song. Their habitat is thickets and bushy woodland edges. They range from British Columbia and east to Maine. There is also a Spotted Towhee in the West. They interbreed when they come in contact and are now considered the same species. Listen for scratching in the leaves and a sweet song. You may have a towhee in your area. They remind me of robins. A nice little bird, the Rufous-sided Towhee.

Andy has been sick nearly all week, running a temperature, and kinda feeling blah all over. The first inkling we got that something was wrong was when he started getting after me about keeping it so cold around here, so I turned the furnace up to 76 and then he decided it must be the furnace since it wasn't putting out the heat it did last year. Since the thing was blasting away and I'm going into suffocation mode, I decided to take his temp. It wasn't too bad, but I know chills when I see them, so I took it an hour later and it was 101.4. Since then it has hovered around 100 but no one seems to quite know why. Anyhow the home-health nurse has stepped up her visits, at least until he gets to feeling better.

It seems very good to get the rain, and since it rains mostly at night the days have been gorgeous. I have gotten in most of the plants I

Don and Sylvia Gray's grandson, Noah, was on the T.V. show of Oprah Winfrey on Friday, the 11th, at 4 p.m., again tickling those piano keys and making beautiful music. The show was about all young geniuses. Noah was the youngest one, six years old.

Call to Worship at the Newry Community Church was held Sunday morning, Oct. 13, with Pastor Rodney Hanscom at the pulpit and daughter Nancy at the organ. The Message of the Day was, "Faith leads to Victory," from St. Luke 7:50. "And he said to the woman, 'Thy faith saved thee; so go in peace.'" A prayer followed, hymn sing, benediction and postlude. The thought for the day was read by Owen Wight. Amen.

Peter Morton and Raven Merrill came to visit me one day.

"The foliage of Autumn — How beautiful, but a moral character is attached to autumnal scenes; the leaves falling like our years, the flowers fading like our illusions, the light diminishing like our intelligence, the sun growing colder like our affections, the rivers become frozen like our lives. All bear secret relations to our destinies." I will be 95 years old on Oct. 24.

BIGGER THAN MANY BULLS
Raymond Chapman (right), 74, of Gilead shot this cow moose Oct. 10 in Upton. The moose weighed in at about 1,000 pounds, believed to be one of the largest cows shot during Maine's state-wide moose hunt, according to Bob Chapman, Raymond's son. Another son, Ernie, is pictured with him. "All the family is proud of him," said Bob.

plan to and the rest will have to fend for themselves. I thought that having perennials meant that one left them in the ground to fend for themselves anyway. It seems as though I remember having beautiful flowers in our yard and except for my little flowerbed I planted each spring they were left strictly alone. My grandmother liked flowers outside but not in the house, so I am sure nothing ever got taken in. The peonies were always beautiful as were the lilies, irises, and other such ilk and they certainly never got any help from us. But Andy says nothing grows right under these pines anyway. I'm sure if he had his way they would all disappear from this lot. But owing to shoreline zoning and such he hasn't been able to have his way much. When he came here he was very pleased that he would no longer have to mow lawns, but, alas, time has dimmed the work part of lawns and now he mourns the lack of them. Go figure.

Fred Peterson came Saturday to get the snowblower and get it ready for winter. We thought it had something major wrong with it because it smoked but turns out it was the fault of a big rock that got stuck in the blades. So that was a relief that we didn't have to replace that. Winter is just around the corner. Pleasant thought.

Tent 17 Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War met on Monday, Oct. 14, at the Grange Hall for a regular meeting. Six members were present. Helvi will see what time the Legion program is when Butch Fuller talks about the Civil War. We have been invited to attend. It was voted to have a Thanksgiving basket and each one to bring something for it next meeting. It was voted to meet at Alice Hoyt's home during the winter months. Twenty calls were reported. Candy was brought for the Veterans' Home for Halloween. Next meeting, Nov. 11, bring things for Togos for Christmas either for veterans or gift shop. The Legion will have a program for Veterans' Day. Beth and Marybeth Hoover will bring refreshments for the November meeting. The mystery package went to Alice Hoyt.

The Woodstock PTA will hold a Craft Sale and Bake Sale on Saturday, Oct. 26, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Woodstock Elementary School. Childcare is available with a donation.

Sympathy is extended to the family of Basil Seguin.

Curator Larry Billings was pleased to see former President Carter won the Nobel Peace Prize. The Historical Society Museum reflects area life at the end of the 19th and beginning of the 20th century. It is typical of furnishings in a town like Woodstock that has a generally rural setting. Thus it represents our community well during its heyday. The cultural life of our area is also included. Thus it mirrors the best they can offer. Curator Larry has given more unframed art prints to the society. They are used by people visiting the museum. The society has a nice art gallery on the second floor of its museum and a few books on art in its research library. The museum thereby serves as a cultural center for the area. There is much material on classical music including some on the Summer Music Camp and a number of musical instruments.

At the October meeting, Olive Risko presided and Elaine Roberts served as secretary for the first time. Olive Risko read the research report on the Civil War. Curator Larry distributed a handout on history. The members accepted a sign from Farrows Manor. The program was the second video on Sturbridge Village. Members were glad to see Dr. Steve Chase again. He made a donation.

Curator Larry Billings broke his arm in a fall last Saturday.

Marta Clements' sister-in-law, Fannie Brazier of Hancock, and friend, Debbie Farwell Eldredge from Unity, have been visiting Marta and other friends in the Bethel area for a couple of days.

Lelia Oster, LaSalle, Colo., and her sister, Nuriel of Norridgewock, visited with Marta for a while recently. Lelia and husband, Jim, knew Marta and Nick when they were at the university in Syracuse, N.Y. in 1970. They are visiting with friends and relatives in this area.

Marta went to Ware, N.H., on Columbus Day weekend for her granddaughter Sarah's Grandparents' Day. Sarah is the daughter of Bruce and Cindy Clements.

Lenwood (Pete) Andrews and Erlon Twitchell have been cutting brush this summer and early fall along Andrews Brook and all around Wayside Cemetery in West Paris and are now working on the South Woodstock Cemetery. Much thanks for all the work.

Sympathy goes out to the family and friends of Marietta Penley, who died recently.

Don't forget the wagon rides at the Union Church in South Woodstock on Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights this month. The one near Halloween should be extra special. The wagon rides are given by Harry Hutchinson.

It doesn't seem possible October is half gone already. We're getting that rain we need for people's wells that are getting dry. Fred Curtis and daughter, Akayla, of town were up to see me one afternoon. Also, Jason Curtis of Norway, Felecia Curtis, William Curtis and young Albert Curtis came up one day. I'm always glad to have children around.

Carl Curtis was home over the weekend. His wife, Betty, went back with him to New Hampshire. Glad she can go.

My grandson, Tim Curtis, took me to Norway for a doctor's appointment last week.

Albert and Marie Curtis went up to the Katahdin Shadow Camp Ground last weekend. They joined Glenn and Lillian Strait, Stephen and Colista Cogswell, Melanie Damon and two daughters to help Glenn's mother, Julia Gaudet's, celebrate her birthday. They all had a good time and enjoyed cake and ice cream.

That's it for this time. Have a happy and safe week.

West Paris

by
Bertha DeHaas
As fall deepens, our trees have seemed to reach their peak in autumnal splendor — the reds redder and the other shades of down to almost a butter yellow all trying to outdo each other with their glorious colors. What a truly beautiful state we are blessed to live in — with four such wonderful seasons, each special in its own ways.

Your reporter did something very unusual for her — she went away for the weekend, enjoying old friends early in the weekend and her youngest son, David, his wife, Lynne, and their children for the rest of the weekend. Attended church with them in their hometown on Sunday. What a truly wonderful day this was. The best thing of all is that young William, who had the serious eye injury, can, after six operations, now see with glasses. Thank you all for your prayers for him — it worked.

West Paris townspeople attended the Thursday special meeting of the selectmen to again review yet another application for a liquor license for the Mighty Stallion at Trap Corner. After much investigation, reporting of same, discussion, and soul searching, the license was denied. There is a 15-day appeal time and then probably another special meeting.

West Paris Grange 298 met Thursday night, Oct. 17, in regular session at 7:30 p.m. As this was inspection night, State Grange Deputy James Lowe was there to check our procedure and correct any errors. This was followed by a good program by Anna Swan, lecturer.

See you next week.

Albany

by Dana & Sheila Dyke
A (not so) chilly hello from Albany Township. It's very possible that the water is starting to come back to normal. We were able to take showers this morning and didn't get any of the sputtering of air that we've been getting when we dare try to use the water. We still have to be careful, though. The rain we've gotten lately has definitely helped some. The only downside has been that Dana hasn't been able to go out for a ride on his bike — it's either been raining, or chilly, or there have been other things he needs to do during the daylight hours.

We're going to try and have a (kids) hunter's pocket-breakfast ready on Saturday morning at the community hall. Saturday is the first day for hunting for area kids, and we figured that we'd try and have some coffee (for any adults accompanying the kids), muffins, donuts — that sort of thing — for them as they get heading out. Anyone who will be donating items for the "breakfast" can drop them off at our place any time this week, or you can join us at about 4:30 a.m. at the Hall. You can also give us a call (if you don't have our number, Pam and Holle do) and we'll pick them up. The money collected will be going directly to the Youth Group's account. The kids in the Youth Group will be sponsoring a child through Compassion International; so, we're trying to come up with new and creative ways for the kids to earn some extra money for this new expense. We've also added a bucket in church for Sundays into which folks can toss any extra coin they may have jingling in their pockets. The following Saturday, Nov. 2, will be another pocket-breakfast for the first official day of hunting, again with coffee, muffins, etc. Please excuse us if we're a bit tired when you come in; that will be two Saturdays in a row we'll be getting up earlier than usual for a weekend.

Last Sunday, we had a couple from the Gideons join us in church. They spoke of the ministry and what the Gideons do, and left pamphlets for anyone who wishes to donate to this worthwhile cause — obtaining and donating Bibles around the world. The Youth Group sang in church on Sunday and did a nice job.

Sheila wants to thank Pastor Gammon and the Grace Fellowship Church in Oxford for inviting her there on Sunday to sing to them. It was a great pleasure for her to do so, and she more than enjoyed that people liked the song she chose to sing. Sheila loves to sing God's word, so, please, feel free to invite her again.

There won't be a Youth Group meeting this Friday as it is the last Friday of the month, and that means Hymn Sing over at the Pinhook Meetinghouse in Bryant Pond. If any of the Youth Group wishes to go, but doesn't have a ride, please give either of us a call, and we'll see what we can work out. If we can get enough kids together, maybe they can sing a song at the hymn sing?

Bible Study will be held on Thursday starting at 6:30 p.m. at Fernand and Holle Corriveau's home. We're studying the book of Proverbs.

Florine is now at the rehab center in Lewiston recovering from her stroke. They have her on a strict exercise regiment now, and only immediate family can visit her, and then only for about 10 or 15 minutes at a time. Our thoughts and prayers go out to Florine and Bud in this time, and we hope to have Florine back in church soon, as we all miss her smile.

Best wishes and God bless you through another week.

Hi readers. Aren't these nice fall days. The trees are real pretty now with their bright colored leaves mixed with the greens. It's about two weeks later than usual; I think on account of the lack of rain, but now it's catching up. We're getting rain today, thank goodness, which will help our well that has been exceptionally low the past few months.

Albert has been busy delivering wood to people, and one day I went with him to Bradley Pond. On the way we saw about 10 wild turkeys go across the road. They didn't waste much time; they scooted right across.

Monday night, the Stoneham Planning Board met to go over a few permits in town. Derek and members are doing a good job in keeping things under control. Sometimes it seems like a thankless job, doesn't it?

Well, there is one lucky hunter in town. Johnny Barker got his moose this year. By the way, have you seen Marty Hamlin lately with his moose? That is some animal with its big antlers that Marty carries in CANCER TREATMENTS WORK BETTER THAN EVER. THEY JUST DON'T WORK FROM 50 MILES AWAY.

Despite remarkable progress in the fight against cancer, there are many cancer patients today whose greatest challenge isn't lack of treatment. It's lack of transportation.

Right now your American Cancer Society's Road to Recovery program needs volunteers to drive cancer patients to and from treatment. If you have a car, safe driving skills, and can drive as little as one morning or afternoon a month, you can help give someone the most precious of all gifts: the chance for a fuller life.

For more information, please call your American Cancer Society at 1-800-ACS-2345. Call today. You'll be giving someone the ride of their life.

News flash — On Saturday, Oct. 26, Pet Checkers Pet Sitting Service and the Center Lovell Market will be hosting a book signing to benefit Voice for Animals, a local nonprofit animal protection organization. The newly released children's book, "Merlin and the Black Star," is written by T.B.R. Walsh from the Mt. Washington Valley. Ted Walsh is a teacher, illustrator and boat builder who works as the art editor for TMC Books and Stonehearth Open Learning Opportunities in Conway, N.H. His book is a humorous and educational account based on the real life adventures of Merlin the puppy and his mentor, Saxon, an older, experienced sailing wolf dog. Together, the two dogs enjoy a day of sailing on the Black Star and Merlin learns everything he can about life at sea. Merlin will be at the book signing, which will be held from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., to autograph his book.

Children can enjoy a pumpkin-carving contest, and a Pet Lovers Raffle will offer great prizes and help to support a local feral cat colony in Lovell. Information about Voices for Animals and its many volunteer opportunities for children and adults will be on display.

Telstar Alumni Association

The Telstar Alumni Association held its monthly meeting on Tuesday, Oct. 8, in the Conference Room at Telstar. This meeting was mainly to discuss the upcoming Halloween Costume Dance to be held on Saturday, Oct. 26, at the American Legion Hall in Locke Mills from 8:30 p.m. to 12:30 a.m., featuring music by The Impalas, a golden oldies rock and roll band. Our next monthly meeting will be held on Tuesday, Nov. 19, at 6:30 p.m. at the Conference Room at Telstar. And, as always, all Telstar graduates are invited to join us and give us some new ideas about class reunions for the upcoming summer. Graduating years for Summer 2003 class reunions are as follows: 1973 (30 years) — Alice Deegan has offered but needs someone to help, 1978 (25 years), 1983 (20 years), 1988 (15 years), 1993 (10 years) and 1998 (5 years).

From the

Bethel Rotary Club

Last week in Rotary, we heard from the officers of the newly formed Interact Club: president — Anthony Liberti, Gould Academy senior; vice president — Santana Wilson, Telstar Regional High School junior; secretary — Vienna Shea, Gould Academy senior; and treasurer — Heather Zimmerman, Telstar senior.

Interact is a Rotary-sponsored youth service club. Interact clubs provide opportunities for boys and girls of secondary school age to work together in a world fellowship of service and international understanding. The term "Interact" is derived from "inter," for international, and "act," for action. Every Interact Club must be sponsored and supervised by a Rotary Club and must plan annual projects of service to its school, community,

PORTABLE SAWMILL

This and other pieces of the portable sawmill and logging equipment will be demonstrated by the Small Woodland Owners Association of Maine from 9 a.m. to noon on Oct. 26. Bill Haynes, chapter president of the Small Woodland Owners Association of Maine, will host the event at his Sweden Road sawmill site.

and in the world. (ABC of Rotary).

Each officer spoke and offered information on them. All are multiple season athletes and participate in school organizations or class offices. Santana Wilson attended RYLA this year and Heather Zimmerman attended RYLA in her sophomore year.

Interact President Anthony Liberti shared their club update. The club has 15 members from Telstar Regional High School and Gould Academy. It is their goal to have membership grow and be split not only between the two high schools but also by grade and sex. They have had two meetings with a third planned. It is their intent to incorporate the same meeting format as Rotary.

They understand their mission of not only being for service on an international level but also to plan projects of service in the community. They are exploring working on a community project of the Grafton Loop Trail. They are still brainstorming on projects both locally and internationally.

Their first-year goal is to bring the two schools together and then to the community. And, they see this first year as building a solid foundation in which the club can grow in future years.

They have been meeting weekly on Thursdays at Ordway Hall, Gould Academy. They welcome information/volunteers on guest speakers and welcome ideas for projects.

Nice job to Rotarians Kunkle, Roma, Hart, Murphy and all who have been instrumental in jump starting this Interact Club. These are fine young people, and the Bethel Rotary Club is looking forward to our continued sponsorship and support of this great group.

Continuing series: Polio Eradication — Fulfilling Our Promise. With polio eradication entering its final phase, WHO and UNICEF estimate that the amount of donor funds required for the period of 2002-2005 is $1 billion. There has already been pledged for committed $725 million. The current $275 million funding gap is the single greatest obstacle to eradicating the disease by the year 2005. It is in the best interests of all countries to support poor countries in their polio eradication programs so that all countries can reap the eventual benefit of $1.5 billion in annual savings when polio immunization can cease.

Rotary's additional $80 million is an important link in eliminating the funding gap. A minimum of $25 million of this money will be used to utilize a matching grant from the Gates Foundation, and together with assistance from the World Bank, the funding gap can be overcome.

Upcoming Dates: Information will be available in the coming weeks regarding our annual Holiday Poinsettia Sale, Dec. 1 — Fall Country Breakfast, Dec. 10 — annual Senior Dinner.

The Rotary Club of Bethel meets weekly on Tuesdays at 7:30 a.m. at The Bethel Inn and Country Club.

From the

Mahoosuc Arts Council

The Mahoosuc Arts Council is pleased to announce that they have received a grant from the Oxford County Fund of the Maine Community Foundation to support their Meet the Artist series. Meet the Artist is comprised of seven art events highlighting the life stories and work of selected artists living and working in Oxford County.

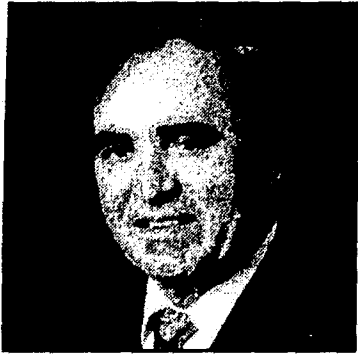

The series is intended to raise the visibility of artists living and working in our communities, educate community members about being an artist, and acknowledge the artists' contributions to the economy and quality of life. Meet the Artist will introduce these artists, often known to us only by name, to the community through an arts experience with a conversation.

The first event will take place on Friday, Nov. 1, and will feature John Cooper and Don Roy. Mr. Cooper, a well-known violinmaker, will speak about his craft and of how his love of the instrument developed. Don Roy is a well-respected fiddler whose musical skills were passed on to him by his family. He is a member of Fiddle Box and has played with other such groups including The Maine French Fiddlers.

CPS students had a very busy first month of school!

Kindergarteners completed their first series of journal entries recently and delighted in sharing a favorite page with classmates. Pictured above is Noah Rose, a student in Mrs. Sabin's class, telling about a rocket ship adventure shared by he and his dad.

The recent open house held at Crescent Park School on September 26th was a huge success. Kindergarten students challenged parents to identify their replicas as faces were created on paper plates and coat hangers were adorned with t-shirts from home.

The SAD #44 Wellness Team recently attended a conference held at Sugarloaf

The 17th Annual Maine Schoolsite Health Promotion Conference was held at Sugarloaf USA from June 23-27th. The SAD #44 Wellness Team has been attending this conference for nine years. This year five members were able to attend with a sixth person joining for one day. The SAD #44 Wellness team consists of staff from all schools in the district and community members as well, and has been in existence since 1993. Woodstock Students have been learning about South Africa

In the resource room at Woodstock School, we have been learning about South Africa through the travels and experiences of Emily Phillips who is a former Woodstock student. Emily is going to school in Grahamstown, South Africa. She has been writing and sending pictures to share with the students from some of her trips. Students come up with a question each week to ask her about South Africa or her school.

Telstar High School News

The Big Three: Seniors Dan Morgan, Brian Zinchuk and Jordan Walker have led the Telstar golf team to a 7-3 regular season record. The team lost to undefeated Mt. Valley twice, the second loss by a 4-3 score, with the Rebels winning three of the five individual matches but losing the team medal score.

Pictured above are: Errol Andrews, Travis Brooks and Brady Chapman. Freshmen Errol and Brady along with Junior Travis provided an integral part of Telstar's golf team this season. The Rebels finished the regular season with a 7-3 record including 7 straight wins. Senior Brian Zinchuk and Senior Jordan Walker (not pictured) are the two leaders of the team. Both are 4-year veterans of the team and Jordan qualified for the individual championships in 2001 and finished in 10th place in the States.

Telstar seniors Sarah Gamble, Lauren Hart, and John Reuter represented Telstar on September 26 in Portland as invited guests of the Senator George J. Mitchell Research Institute. Students from nine schools in the state presented results from their school's CSRD/Promising Futures work to other schools, educators, and community leaders from Maine including Governor Angus King and Commissioner of Education Duke Albanese. Following the presentation, the students were invited to a press conference where George Mitchell and Tom Vander Ark of the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation announced a $10 million grant opportunity for Maine high schools that are ready to embrace change.

Back to work! Members of the seminar Outdoor Trails stand along the new bridge being constructed along the lower athletic field. The class will also be building a bridge from the soccer field to the roadway parking area. noted that David Conary, a candidate for Representative for District 70 would be of service in Augusta. He is one for dedicated public service — a very sincere, hardworking man. The Rev. Linwood Hanson added that Conary is a gentleman who isn't afraid of taking a stand and to do the right thing. He is committed to affordable medical care and prescription drug cost. It was also added, by South Woodstock resident Les Thurlow, that David Conary is the hardworking person who "I want in Augusta to work for all persons including children of District 70. David will be my choice for the person needed for District 70 to get the things of great interest done."

Evelyn Bean says the people of Woodstock deserve a full-time representative in Augusta and she is sure David Conary is the one candidate that will give us full representation. David is committed to all the people of District 70 and will work for all regardless of the political party.

Many others voiced their concerns for Conary. The meetings are always of much interest to all the townfolks.

This will give an opportunity to talk with the candidates and have an opportunity to ask questions and get answers on the important issues such as the economy and creation of jobs, controlling spending, lowering of taxes, providing quality education opportunities, or any other issue of interest to the voter.

NOW News

You already know that smoking increases your chances of developing emphysema, heart disease and lung and other cancers. It is a scientific fact that quitting smoking, no matter how long you have been smoking, does decrease your risk of smoking-related diseases and it does improve your health.

Just five years after quitting, the risk of lung cancer decreases by almost half. People who quit smoking experience improved cardiovascular function, which means lower blood pressure and more energy. They also enjoy a renewed sense of taste and smell.

FreshStart is a support and preparation program designed by the American Cancer Society. The program consists of four, one-hour sessions and will be led by Sarah Coolidge. The program addresses reasons for smoking, methods and activities to help smokers quit and strategies to help them remain smoke-free.

The single most important element is you, and your dedication to fight the addiction to nicotine that makes you want to smoke. This can be your start to a new life without cigarettes.

Class is being offered on Oct. 28, 30, Nov. 6 and 13, from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m. at the Adult Education Center located on Philbrook Street in Bethel. This program is free. Please call 364-7408 to register and for more information.

Do you want to make a difference in someone's life? Do you wish to help your community lead healthier lifestyles? Are you a former smoker who could teach others how to quit? If you answered yes to any of these questions, you're just who we're looking for to become a trained FreshStart facilitator. Not a big commitment is needed — just the desire to help others become smoke free. If you are interested, please contact Project NOW to find out when the next free training is being offered.

Project NOW stands for Northern Oxford Wellness and is one of 31 Healthy Maine Partnerships across the state. This organization is based out of Rumford as part of River Valley Healthy Communities Coalition. Project NOW's purpose is to educate others on the topics of tobacco, physical fitness, and good nutrition. The surrounding areas benefiting from these grant monies are those towns in SAD21, SAD43, SAD44, and Peru. If anyone has any questions or comments, please call RVHCC at 364-7408 M-F or e-mail at rvhcc@gwi.net.

COLORED LEAVES, WHITE SNOW
The first cross-country ski tracks of the season were made Monday at the Great Glen Trails Outdoor Center in Pinkham Notch, N.H. Here, winter Olympian Sue Long combines skiing with foliage viewing. Snow on the Mt. Washington Auto Road is common in October, as the mountain can get snow in every month of the year. Great Glen typically opens for the season in November.

Now available for holiday giving in the Bethel Historical Society's Museum Shop is a wooden replica of the Dr. Moses Mason House by Primrose Path. three straight wins at the end of the season put them in the playoffs against Dirigo.

Tuesday's victory was sealed in the final minute of the game as Michelle Henley put the ball past Cougar goalie Shira Hammer.

The Rebels came back from a 1-0 halftime deficit, as Dirigo scored 16 seconds before the half ended.

Telstar tallied its first goal when senior captain Lauren Hart scored on a shot that bounced off the goalie. (Hart's father, Dan, is the principal of Dirigo High School.)

Improved communication in the second half was key to the comeback, said coach Gail Wight. And, she said, "The defense really stepped up," with saves in the defensive zone made by Heather Zimmerman, Krystle Gould, Santana Wilson and Ashley Stambolis. By AMY CHAPMAN

Shula Bien of Jay, Brady Wheatley of West Greenwich, RJ, Camden Elliott-Williams of Woodstock and Zeke Davisson of Bethel have been named Commended Students in the 2003 National Merit Scholarship Program, Gould Academy Associate Head of School Dr. Harry Dresser announced recently.

A Letter of Commendation from Gould Academy and the National Merit Scholarship Corporation (NMSC), which conducts the program, was presented to these scholastically talented seniors during an all-school assembly.

Bien, Wheatley, Elliott-Williams, and Davisson were recognized for their exceptional academic promise with a total of about 34,000 Commended Students throughout the nation.

Although they will not continue in the competition for Merit Scholarship awards, the students placed among the top 5 percent of more than one million students who took the 2001 Preliminary SAT National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test.

ROBERT FARRINGTON SANBORN (1884-1949) AND CALVIN LIBBY SANBORN (1845-1916) pose while logging near the Sanborn Farm in Middle Intervale, Bethel, in this ca. 1900 Guy Coffin photo. This photograph is among thousands that can be found at the Bethel Historical Society, which also possesses an outstanding collection of manuscripts, books, documents, and artifacts relating to western Maine and northern New Hampshire. The society is currently raising funds to establish its Regional History Center and to renovate the 1821 O'Neil Robinson House on Broad Street, which now houses exhibit galleries, offices, and the museum shop. Completion of this project will provide for improved storage space and greater access to collections as well as rooms devoted to educational activities, genealogical and historical research, and traditional crafts. Once the center is fully operational it will offer an expanded series of lectures, special events, conferences, courses, seminars, and publications. To learn more about this project, call the society at 824-2908 or (800) 824-2910, e-mail info@bethelhistorical.org or visit the Web site at www.bethelhistorical.org

BRADLEY W. HALL

Bradley W. Hall, 83, a resident of Vassalboro, died Tuesday evening, Oct. 15, 2002 at Parkview Nursing Home, Livermore Falls, where he had been a patient since June.

He was born in West Bethel on July 7, 1919, the son of Norman H. and Lettie McLellan Hall. He was educated in the grammar schools of Bethel and attended Gould Academy. During World War II he served in the U.S. Army.

He had worked as a custodian in Portland, and in his younger days, he enjoyed dancing.

He is survived by a brother, Quentin and his wife Gloria of Auburn; three sisters, Barbara Parker of South Portland, Muriel and her husband William Lever of Auburn, and Ruth Hall of Biddeford; and several nieces.

Graveside services were held Saturday, Oct. 19, at Pine Grove Cemetery in West Bethel.

BASIL W. SEGUIN

Basil W. Seguin, 76, of 56 Main Street, South Paris, died Tuesday, Oct. 15, 2002 at Stephens Memorial Hospital.

He was born in Webster on Aug. 6, 1926, the only child of Victor and Gladys Moody Seguin. He graduated from Sabattus High School in 1944 and from Bliss College of Business in Lewiston in 1946. In the 1940s he served several summers with the Maine Forest Service. He was a volunteer firefighter with the town of Sabattus and served on its school board.

From the late 1940s through the mid-'60s he practiced public accounting in Lewiston and briefly had a satellite office in South Paris. He served a term as president of the Maine Chapter of the National Society of Public Accountants. He returned to Bliss College to teach accounting and business courses. He rose to become treasurer of the college and to serve on its board of trustees. The internecine politics he encountered there took its toll on him and on his vision of education. He later taught at Andover College in Portland from 1967 to 1973 and at NHVTC in Berlin, N.H., from 1978 to 1985.

In 1963, Mr. Seguin married Starr D. Dupee of Lewiston, with whom he had three children.

The couple went into the antiques and used-book business, establishing Moll Ockett Antiques and Books in Bryant Pond in 1969. The business remained open until his death. In the mid-'70s he operated a gift business, the Woodstock Emporium. He served in managerial capacities at Stowell Wood Products Co. and Andover Dowel Co.

In one year he was dealt a double-blow. In the spring of 1982 he was obliged to declare bankruptcy. His wife died of cancer the following January; this left him, a man in his mid-'50s with two small children to care for and a business to run. He shouldered this burden despite severe economic and professional pressures and carried it off.

To his children, at least, he was a paragon. Mr. Seguin was known as a character, as much for his personal interests as for his style. He was devoted to music and to musical theater, particularly the light operas of Gilbert and Sullivan; he was first transfixed by performances of the latter by the American Savoyards at Cumston Hall in Monmouth in the 1950s.

He was an active Unitarian and interested in parapsychological matters, particularly reincarnation.

An avid rail fan and devotee of local history, he was a life member of the Bethel Historical Society. He did not drink, yet he had a taste for fine foods. He sold and loved books but knew little of modern literature and almost never read fiction. If coaxed on Christmas Eve, he could recite the classic poem, "The Night Before Christmas" in its entirety from memory.

He is survived by his three children, David, Vernon and Victoria all of Portland.

A visitation was held on Sunday, Oct. 20, at The Fortin Group Funeral Home, Auburn. In lieu of

I want to thank my forever friend Lyn Barton, for coming all the way from Pennsylvania to be with me when I came home. I also want to thank my friend and pastor Debbie Jenks for her prayers and support. I wish I could name everyone but it would fill the entire paper. I am blessed.
